

Ruby on Rails Developer (m/f)

As part of our team in Munich, you and your teammates are responsible for the XING Events Market (<https://www.xing.com/events>), the best way to find business events in the DACH region. Within this excellent SCRUM team, you will play an active part in shaping our product.

A challenging task

The Events Market is written in Ruby on Rails. You will implement sophisticated yet pragmatic additions to the XING platform with a good test coverage. We do not work alone, but we collaborate with other development teams at XING, connecting our apps using REST and AMQP. We are all full stack developers, and as part of the team you will build complete features from end to end. At XING, we use Github Enterprise to manage our code base. We heavily use open source projects, and contribute back regularly (see also <https://github.com/xing>).

A convincing background

- Experience in building web applications that serve the user and scale as well.
- Good understanding of algorithms, data structures and general software development patterns as well as API experience with HTTP, REST, and JSON.
- Good understanding of Ruby on Rails, and the Ruby language.
- At least two years of professional programming experience using Ruby on Rails.
- Good understanding of the web's frontend technologies, meaning HTML, CSS, and JavaScript.
- Experience using database technologies.
- Fluent communication in English.

An inspiring environment

XING Events offers a dynamic environment located in the centre of Munich with an excellent rooftop terrace. As well as flexible working hours that support your work-life balance, you'll have an opportunity to unleash your skills and acquire new ones. We do regular team and offsite events, and we send you to conferences, such as the Euruko, or the Full-stack Fest. Furthermore you have the option to work on whatever you like once per quarter during our Hack Week. Of course, we also provide free drinks and organic fruit as well as restaurant vouchers. And let's not forget the smartphone or iPad that you can use privately. You'll also be provided with a high-end Macbook Pro.

Who we are

XING Events is a XING AG subsidiary that currently employs over 75 people and offers professional event organizers an award-winning software for online ticketing and event marketing. We are an innovative, modern and enthusiastic company and our main goal is to create memorable events in cooperation with our customers. Always keeping our vision "For people moments that matters" in mind.

Sounds brilliant and we have awakened your interest? Then, we would be delighted to receive an informative application (including cover letter, CV, salary expectations and links to portfolio and/or other references.) Please apply directly through our online application form.

